SCIENTIFIC TOPICS RECEIVE ATTENTION

LOCAL SPEAKERS TALK AT AN-NUAL SCIENCE NIGHT OF THE TWILIGHT CLUB.

EUGENICS DISCUSSED

Roverend Henry Willmann Lays Stress on Importance of Preparation for Parenthood.

The March meeting of the Twilight club Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building was given over to a discussion of scientific topics ranging from the wonders of the universe astronomically considered to the spread of disease by insects and rodents. The question of heredity and environment and the related science of eugenics received capable treatment, and the advancement in the uses of electricity and the progress of scientific research as related to industry were important contributions to the program. Dr. S. B. Buckmaster was the leader for the evening.

Reverend Henry Willman in his paper on the science of eugenics laid emphasis on that phase which concerns education for parenthood. "It concerns education for parenthood." It concerns the said, "the right of the child not only to be well born, physically, mental and morally, but also to be raised with careful attention to its physical, mental and moral welfare. It is a matter of perpetuating the racial instinct along the highest and most humanitarian principles. It includes the teaching of our boys to be manly and to know the real significance of that characteristic. It requires the education of our girls for motherhood, and the care of children to the conservation of their health and the prevention of disease."

Mr. Willmann pointed out the positive and negative sides of eugenics. On the positive side it encourages the parenthood of the most reliable persons, and on its negative side it discourages the parenthood of the most reliable persons, and on its negative side it discourages the parenthood of the east reliable. Much is being done on the negative side, in the way of preventing the intermarriage of the deaf and dumb, of the feeble-minded, of the insane and epileptic, of the criminal and alcoholic, and of persons afflicted with diseases which will transmit racial poison to their children. In Wisconsin there has been something done, also, he said, in the malter of serilization of persons who are unfit for parenthood. In his estimation, the malter of aid for dependent children should be worked out along eugenic lines.

Principal J. T. Sheafor of the high school made a pica for the importance of heredity as opposed to environment in the effect upon the individual. He declared it a principle that good blood will make its own environment whereas persons of degenerate or inferior origin are handicapped by their inherent, inbed characteristics which crop out in spite of the environment. He called artention to investigations conducted by Dr. Goddard at Vineland, N. J., into two lines of descendants who made a good flies can be traced the spread of typhold, to mosquitoes yellow fever, and to fleas carried by rats, the bubonic plague. He commended the campaign which is being carried on to exterminate the housefly and all other pests which carry germ diseases.

S. M. Smith discussed the importance of the science of chemistry in modern manufacturing and declated that the business man is coming to the decision that he must co-operate more and more with the chemist in the successful conduct of his business. He showed the marvelous development which had been made in Germany relative to the establishment of scientific efficiency in manufacturing. If the United States is to succeed in commerce it must progress in like manner, he declared. He discussed briefly the progress which is being made in the scientific application of alcohol and cellulose in manufacturing lines. In was announced at the meeting that the annual ladies' night banquet will be held the latter part of April, some date after Easter.

BOWER CITY BAND IN SUMMER CONCERTS

Collect Half of Sum of Money Needed to Finance Proposition.—Plans Similar to Last Year.

Similar to Last Year.

Janesville's music loving public are assured concerts during the coming summer to those conducted last year. Members of the Bower City Band yesterday canvassed the business district and collected over half of the amount necessary to warrant their appearance during the coming summer evenings. As was the case during 1915 the concerts are to be alternated between the court house park and the Corn Exchange.

Members of the band expect little trouble in raising the remaining sum needed and will collect it as soon as possible. Date of the first concert to be given has not been decided upon but it is thought that they will start a little earlier this summer than last.

If the American traveler from Australia or New Zealand, voyaging by sea on what the British navy prayer his "law-ful occasions," desires to reach his home, he has no option but to use a British vessel. has been said, with considerable truth, that the administration, in the matter of protecting American citizens abroad is straining at the German gnat and swallowing the Mexican camet. The argument from numbers, in fact, is as self-destructive as that of Dr. Burgess.

The principle involved is vital, not merely to the life of the itinerant citizen, but to the life of the nation. At no risks should we allow it to be obscured by those who babble cowardice

Medical Society.

Dr. Harry J. Haiselden of Chicago, who was dropped by the Chicago Medical society at its meeting last night in Chicago, was in Janesville a few hours before the society announced its intention of ousting him, and departed for Chicago on the evening train. It appears that Dr. Haiselden had received a call from Avalon, Wisconsin, which he could not ignore, and later in the day came to Janesville, obtained a livery rig and drove to Johnstown to visit a patient. He returned in the afternoon and before he could be located departed for Chicago, in haste, on the evening passenger train.

Dr. Haiselden was ousted from the medical society for the reason that he refused to operate on an infant because, he said, surgery could not ever alter natural defects and it would be better for the baby and the human race to let it die. The physician was in charge of the German-American hospital when Baby Bollinger was born and then allowed to die for the lack of proper operations. The case attracted nation-wide attention. As a consequence Dr. Haiselden received great publicity which the medical society considered unethical, to say the least. Newspaper stories were published in defense of letting the baby die and the physician was given severe criticism.

The Chicago Medical society charged charges. The matter was continued a month to allow Dr. Haiselden to prepare a defense. Last night when the case came up at the meeting at the Hotel Sherman, Dr. Haiselden was the people's desire was for a permanent improvement. Under the new proposed system, it was suggested that bids be received on at least three types of permanent pavings, concrete, asphaltic-concrete, sheet asphalt and possibly brick. Macadam was not to be considered. When the bids were received, opened and announced, the property owners could, by petition, designate the tye they desired. Under the present circumstances the council on Tuesday passed a resolution that asphaltic-concrete be used on Oakland avenue, as it is the cheapest and best adapted to this thoroughfare. This pavement is laid upon a four or five-inch concrete base. The top course is a two or three-inch flux of asphalt and other material. It makes a pavement that will withstand traffic, has an excellent appearance and corresponds to the other pavements of this district. An estimated cost is $1.50 per square yard, which is somewhat lower than good two course concrete.

had hastened to the station to meet the local train when it came in. So swift, however, had been Seagrue's dispositions that his redoubtable scouts, Bill and Lug, were already at the station with instructions from Seagrue to delay the special until nightfall; by which time he reckoned he could make his possession secure on the Cassidy place.

These worthies had already reached e special and boarded it. On the platform, Rhinelander met Helen and he attorney she had summoned, and with him, Rhinelander hastened uptown to get armed deputies -- Bill and Lug now trailing behind to keep track of every move,

At Cassidy's, Storm was urging his men to speed on with their track laying. Seagrue's gang was almost abreast of them and setting a pace. too, that it was difficult to cope with - Seagrue, himself, directing the operofficies. The house, so long the peaceful abode of old man Cassidy, now became the very storm center of an extraordinary disturbance. Seagrue racked his brain for an idea that would hamper the advance of Storm and his energetic crew. And when the inspiration struck him, he put it instantly into effect.

"They're beating us," he said to his foreman: "that's flat. But I can stop them. Bring up the wrecker,'

The word was passed and the ponderous wrecking car, its huge crane thrust threateningly forward, was pushed alongside Cassidy's house and surrounded by a swarming gang of men. Seagrue's order to throw out the whips was instantly executed and almost within a minute, it seemed, after the huge machine had been brought into play the house was enveloped in a network of steel. There was a sharp word of command: a rattle of pistons; the old house quivered for an instant in the grip of the mysterious monster from its foundations; hung and swung a moment doubtfully in the air, pitched like a mad aeroplane headlong toward the other end of the lot and settled with a heavy bang down to earth exactly in the path of Storm and his perspiring men.

Rhinelander, the moment he secured the deputies, hastened back to the station and boarded the special train. A large engine coupled to one coach, stood in waiting, and as they pulled out. Helen wished him good luck. Unfortunately, Seagrue's two worthies, Bill and Lug, unobserved by anybody, hid on the head end of the coach, and as soon as the town was left behind, the two climbed over the tender and held up the fireman and engineer. The engine crew, taken thus unawares, could offer no resist ance whatever and the two were forced over the tender to the head end of the coach,

Cutting off the engine as soon as they had accomplished this, Seagrue's men pulled away with the stolen locomotive and left the coach just where it abruptly stopped when the air went on, with the intention of putting as many miles as possible between the ccachload of deputies and Rhinelander's chances for defending the right of

Popular Actor Sings to Myers Audicince in His Own Show, "As Years Roll On."

Al. H. Wilson, the ever popular solden voice singer came as a treat to his old friends in Janesville and gave them a very pleasing entertainment in the form of a comedy song play "As Years Roll On" at the Myers Theater last night. It was a play of there and there by a Wilson song. Mr. Wilson was a comedian of true humorous ability, turning up a smile at many a common place event. In the renderation of his hallads, his mellow golden voice put much sentiment into the action of the play, carrying you away with the capitivating and charmful melody of "Yesterday" and "Mother Mina" "As Years Roll On" and "She Left Me For a Teddy Bear", also proved to he strong favorites with the audience. The slory the play offered was scened for the first part in Holland and later in New York and acted as a very appropriate instrument for Wilson to display his versatile ability in the portraying a man in the various stages life. Hans Fisher as the inventioning machine kept the audience in a continual roll of laughter and in fact the whole company down to the handsone snappy appearing Mr. Williams, took ful fashlon.

The chances are Willard will be every bit as good on March 25 as he was when he tackled Jack Johnson in Havana a year or so ago. Of course, at that time he was trained for a finish fight and had to resort to an entirely different course of training that is necessary for a ten-round-battle, such as the one with Moran will be. Willard is better off right now, for he is improving with every day, than Moran, who, according to reports from his training camp, seems to have overstepped himself in an effort to get in perfect condition weeks before the date of the fight.

Hard is the battle that has to be won twice, but when in the small hours of the morning Alan returned and crept noiselessly to his room, he felt that! he had won, that he had put the final seal on the renunciation Nance's words had well-nigh recalled. Still wakeful, Alan started packing. He left out his riding kit. That day awoke to clouds that lowered and hung about waiting for the fateful hour of seven when they might with all due respect to atmospheric tradition start in with an all-day rain, but long before the hour struck Alan had foraged for a biscuit and a glass of milk and was mounted and away for a last ride.

Alan rode with the ease of one born to the saddle. There was nothing of the cowboy in his get-up. He used a mere patch of a hupting saddle, fitted like a glove to his horse's back, and rode on the sname with a light hand. The curb rein, that last refuge of a poor horseman, hung loose and forgotten. Alan himself was dressed in well-worn whipcord breeches, short cont, soft but, and close-fitting boots! adorned with rowelless spurs. For his health Red Hill had done wonders. His body was trim, supple and as vibrant as the young horse under it.

But Alan's thoughts were far from saddles and saddle gear as he walked the restive animal down the dipping slope of Long lane and with his riding crop steadily discouraged, the early morning flies, intent on settling down to the business of life on his mount's arched neck and quivering quarters. He was thinking of Clem. Where could he go to get away from Clem? tomorrow, not sometime, but today.

They did not smile at each other; they-even forgot to say good morning. Alan licked his thin lips. They were as dry as over they had been with fever. "Where's your hat?" he asked.

A flicker of amusement showed in Clem's eyes. She was quite calm and she could see that Alan was not, that he was biting his tongue at the feeble words he had saddled on a heavy moment. "Hats are for sunny days," she "I like rain on my head. Have said. me bother you.

Some People Can Get Anything Out of a Telephone

Some people never think of using the telephone for anything but conventional uses. Others are accustomed to wrest all sorts of information from that little black instrument, addresses, the trolley schedule, the news of the day and goodness knows what else.

Her Whole Day Was Upset by That Oclay.

She waited so long that she missed her car, and as she was taking a trolliey journey, thereby missed connections all day.

Of course she was indignant, and then, being a just person, she remembered that she had sometimes used the telephone in the same way.

So the next day she called up each party on her line and suggested this agreement, that after any party had used the telephone for social purposes for five minutes any other party who wanted it for business was privi

Answer—Hright's disease is an arterial disease. By hygienic living the patient should get along comfortably for fifteen to twenty years at least. We cannot give special directions without personal knowledge of your individual case. It is no more curable than gray hair or wrinkled skin. But pet it, and you may forget you have it. Brewer's Yeast Again
Mrs C. E. W. begs to say that an idea gleaned from one of your recent articles has brought much happiness to his household. You suggested brewer's yeast as a dressing for obstina'e varicose ulcers. We obtained some, applied it for about ten days, and healed such an ulcer after six years of futile treatment!

Answer—If the brewerles do decide to market the by-product, we trust they will give it a parlor car fitle and charge $1 an ounce for it.

It was held all that time by one party. The fragments of conversation which reached her ear whenever she lifted the receiver to see if the line was still busy were plainly social gossip. Fast University Team Will Be Here on Saturday to Battle With Lakotas at Rink.

on Saturday to Battle With Lakotas at Rink.

With the long coveted victory over Rockford added to their record the Lakota Cardinals will now seek the scalp of the Wisconsin 'varsity in the game to be played Saturday night at the Auditorium. Since the Wisconsin five won the conference championship the game has an added interest, as the best university team in the west will meet what Janesville considers the champions of them all.

The Lakotas will have a harder task defeating the university than they did Fogarty's five of Rockford. The 'varsity plays a different game than is used by the Lakotas. Under the coaching of Meanwell, who has won four titles for the Badgers, Wisconsin has developed a team play that is hard to duplicate. They play with a rush, speed alone being resorted to on the offensive. Short passes are used almost exclusively and very little dribbling. The university players resort to very little of the rough and tumble tactics so popular with teams that have played here of late.

The Lakota players are fully as good shots and are far better dribblers than the Badger players. For the Badgers, Chandler is expected to play center; Haaas, captain, and Carlson, forwards; Meyers and Smith, guards. Three of this team are regulars and the other two are players with have won the official letter for playing basketball. Meyers is captain for the next year's football team and has played here several games in the past.

The Lakotas will strengthen for this game. Hemming will play at center; game in the past.

Fielder Jones, manager of the Browns, says he will make another "Georgia Peach" out of George Sisler, the southpaw and versatile player. The goods are there all right.

Latest reports from their respective camps are that McGraw has 45 players under his wing, while Connie Mack has 40. They win the championship in this respect.

St. Louis scribes do not enthuse over the Browns as they line up on paper. Keener, for instance, says that "the team would not scare any one—that is, if you only figure the players. The one he places ahead of the players and ahead of every one else in the American league is Fielder A. Jones. "It is Jones' hobby to study his men and maneuvers," he says. "The phrase of 'It can't be done' is not in Fielder's dictionary. He believes that practice makes perfect; and so it does. One of the sluggers, who cannot bunt or who does not bunt very often, is Joey Jackson. Put Joey with Jones for a week and the fence buster will be able to bunt. 300 in a season. Some managers believe ball players must be born, and when they find one who is not up to the art they pass him down to the minors. With Jones we believe be could make a ball player out of a monkey."

the national joy smoke is the real tobacco for jimmy pipes and makin's cigarettes!

You back-up and get a fresh start!

Know right off that this talk is directed at you who can't smoke a pipe; who can't enjoy a rolled cigarette! For men who got away to a false start Prince Albert has a word or two for what ails their smokeappetites!

And it should be handed out here that digging joy from a jimmy pipe or makin's cigarette is as easy as it is for us to tip you off to it. All the training necessary is to get the right

packing—and fire

away! And P. A. is the tobacco you need!

You'll find Prince Albert waiting your word in all corners of the States, and all over the civilized world! Toppy red bags, &c; tidy red tins, 10c; pound and half-pound tin hamidors—and—that classy crystal-glass pound hamidor with spense-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such fins fattle-always!

and cheerful and friendly, you'll get a new idea of smoke joy! The patented process fixes that—and cuts out bite and parch! And this little preachment is also for men who think they're on the right track. All to be said is that the sooner you lay out a nickel or a dime for a supply of Prince Albert, the sooner you'll make a discovery that'll be worth a lot to your peace of mind and tongue! Get the idea of smoking all you want without a comeback—that's P. A.!

Forget you ever tried to smoke, for

Prince Albert is so different, so cool
